

Plumbers, Etc.

JOHN NOTT,
Plumber
75 and 79 King Street
TELEPHONE NO. 31.

NOW is the time to get leaks and breakages seen to, and your Roofs Put in Order.
By competent workmen.

The Plumber's Strike

Is over, and I am again prepared to do Plumbing, Sewering and Sheet Iron Work as heretofore. Estimates furnished. Workmanship and material guaranteed.

Jas. Nott, Jr.,
Store, Beretania opp. Alakea St.
Tel., White 3571.

HONOLULU SHEET METAL WORKS
H. W. BARTH.
Galvanized Iron Skylights and Ventilator Metal Roofing.
Conductor Pipe and Gutter Work.
Richard Street, bet. Queen and Merchant Honolulu.
Jobs promptly attended to.
Tel. White 41 P. O. Box 270.

C. R. Hemenway
ATTORNEY.
OFFICE 406 JUDD BUILDING.
TEL. 314 MAIN.

Albert R. Cunha
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
NOTARY PUBLIC.
308 Stangenwald Building
TELEPHONE—MAIN 21.

W. Austin Whiting,
W. J. Robinson,
LAW OFFICES
Rem'd to Room 306, Judd Building

M. KANEAKUA,
ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW,
NOTARY PUBLIC.
Office—Bethel St., Near the Postoffice.

Decorate Your Homes
with the very latest . . .

Wall Papers
and Lincrusta
at Lewers & Cooke,
LIMITED.

J. D. Jewett
WITH
J. WILLIAMS
FOTO GALLERY
Artist
In Pastels
Crayons
Water Colors
and
OIL PORTRAITS.

ICE
Manufactured from Pure
Distilled Water
Delivered free to any part of city by courteous drivers.

Dahn Ice and Electric Co.
KEWALO
EL. BLUE 3151
HOFFMAN & MARKHAM.

Razors Honed and Set at the
Hawaiian Hotel Barber Shop.
FOR 25 CENTS.
TEL. MAIN 64.

Mrs. H. H. Williams
Art Embroidery and Stamping.
Full line of Art Materials . . .
Art Embroidery Taught . . .
Love Building, Fort Street

Surgeons, Physicians and Dentists.

Dr. Archibald N. Sinclair.
OFFICES: ROOMS 201-202, BOSTON BUILDING, FORT STREET.
TELEPHONES: OFFICE, MAIN 115; RESIDENCE, WHITE 486.
HOURS: 11 A. M. TO 1 P. M.; 5 TO 8 P. M.; SUNDAYS—12 TO 3 P. M.

Dr. Albert E. Nichols
DENTIST.
1154 Alakea Street.
Office Hours 9 to 4

A. C. WALL, D.D.S.
O. E. WALL, D.D.S.
DENTISTS.
Love Building, Fort Street.
Hours, 9 to 4. Telephone Main 329.
Office Tel. White 1371.

REMOVAL NOTICE.
Dr. J. Atcherley has removed his office from 708 Fort Street to 343 King Street, next to Opera House.
Hours—10 a. m. to 4 p. m.
Residence, Kalihi.
Tel. Blue 1261.
Office Tel. White 1371.

Dr. W. H. Jones
M.R.C.V.S., M.V. M.A., London.
Veterinary Surgeon.
OFFICE—Hotel Stables
RESIDENCE—"The California," Emma Street 1916-31a

Dr. Wm. G. Rogers,
SURGEON AND SPECIALIST.
Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Exclusively
REMOVED to new office, 1146 Alakea Street, opp. Hawaiian Hotel.
Hours, 9 to 12, 3 to 5:30, 7 to 9; Sundays, 9 to 11.

BECAUSE THEY
Save your eyes by removing first and the eye ill which might grow to big ones.
Save your money by increasing capacity for earning it.
Save your time by enabling you to see and act promptly without delay.
Save your temper by relief from nerve-racking, irritating eye strain.

A. N. SANFORD,
OPTICIAN.
BOSTON BUILDING.

BARGAINS
IN Horses, Mules
and Carriages

The business of the HONOLULU STOCK-YARDS CO. is now being closed out and all stock is offered at private sale.
The list comprises:
Carriage and Buggy Horses.
Hack and Express Horses.
California and Hawaiian Mules.
Buggies, Hacks, Surries, Phaetons, Etc.
Sets of Single and Double Harness.
These are for sale at low rates.
Call early at the stables and take your pick.

JAS. F. MORGAN.
C. A. RICE.
1971-47
Telephone to All Parts of the Island.

KONA LIVERY STABLES
KEALAKEKUA, HAWAII
J. G. HENRIQUES, PROP.
Horses and Carriages
For Excursions
To the Volcano or the Mountains.
An excellent chance is offered for tourists to SEE THE COUNTRY.
Carriages meet the S. S. Mauna Loa at Kailua and take passengers overland to Hookea, where the steamer is met again.

Chinese and Japanese Firms.
SANG CHAN
MERCHAND TAILOR
Fine English and American Goods
TWO STORES
65 Hotel Street, and
Hotel near Nuuanu
P. O. Box 261. TEL.—WHITE 61

CLEANING!
Ladies' skirts cleaned. Clothing cleaned, dyed and repaired.
Suits made to order.
Fit guaranteed. Lowest price.
TIM WO
For Street, near Kukul, and near Orpheum Theater.
Prices: Cleaning one suit, 75c. Dyeing suit $1.25.

THE INFANTA EULALIA OF SPAIN.
The Infanta Eulalia, whose visit to this country during the World's fair at Chicago is still remembered, is just now involved in a suit brought by Mrs. Charles T. Yerkes. The wife of the Chicago millionaire has brought action jointly against her highness and a Paris main dressmaker concerning some gowns which Mrs. Yerkes claims were ordered by her, but which were sold to the Infanta.

LITERARY LECTURE
Miss Lucy Adams of the Kamehameha school gave an entertaining talk on George Meredith and his works before the Literary Circle of the Kilo-hama Art League on Saturday afternoon. The address was extempore and in considerable degree humorous, giving much pleasure to the members and guests of the League. Mrs. Frank Atherton and Mrs. Theodore Richards gave a pleasing instrumental duet. After the formal program had been concluded, the Kilo-hama partook of a 5 o'clock tea, the pretty tables and dainty service being presided over by Miss Charlotte Hall, Mrs. Selma Kinney, Mrs. E. R. Adams, Mrs. B. L. Marx, Mrs. Walbridge and Mrs. Howard Hitchcock. Carnations and chrysanthemums decorated the rooms and the tables.

Emma Square Music.
The band will play the following selections at a concert in Emma Square this evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock:
Part I.
Overture—Light Cavalry Suppa
Chorus—Tannhauser Wagner
Selection—The Burgomaster (new)
Songs—
(a) Lei Poni Moi.
(b) Sweet Lei Mamo.
Miss I. Kellian.
(c) Ku'u Wehweh.
(d) Kokohi.
Mrs. N. Alapai.
Part II.
Cornet Solo—Columbia Rollison
Mr. Charles Kreuter.
Medley—Fiddle-Dee-Dee (new)
Sextet—Florodora Stuart
March—Florodora Stuart
Kimi Ya Go.
The Star Spangled Banner.

Blank books of all description designed and made at the EVENING BULLETIN'S Job Office.

THE MAN WHO SAW IT.
It is an ancient mariner
Who stoppeth one of three,
"By thy spyglass and yachting cap,
Now wherefore stoppeth me?"
"Oh, gentle sir," the mariner
Remarked, with gentle face,
"But first the while I tell you of
The wonderful yacht race."
"They crossed the line in splendid shape."
"The wind was strong, indeed;
And then she piped the harbor
watch
And quickly took the lead."
"Which took the lead?" the stranger
cried,
"Which yacht ahead did run?"
"It was," the mariner declared,
"It was the other one."
"Go on! Go on!" the stranger said,
"And tell me of the race."
"I will," the mariner remarked,
"And then the last gave chase."
"They tacked and tacked, until you'd think
The crew that oft did hang
Upon the rigging, was at best
A carpet-laying gang."
"And when the first yacht reached the
"take
The wastes tooted gay;"
"Which was the first?" the stranger
asked,
"The one that led the way."
"They came back on the other leg,"
The mariner went on,
"And one went by the very route
The other one had gone."
"What did they do?" the stranger said,
"What did they do, I beg?"
"As near as I can tell," quoth he,
"I think they pulled the leg."
"And then they neared the finish line;
The bettors cheered and cursed,
When proudly sweeping into view
The winner came in first!"
"But which was that?" the stranger
cried,
"Oh, which was that, I pray?"
"Alas!" the mariner replied,
"I was ten miles away."
It was an ancient mariner,
Who "Help!" did loudly cry.
It was the angry stranger man
Who smote him hip and thigh.
—Baltimore American.

The Indispensable Man.
Some of the most successful business men in this country make it a rule to dispense with the services of any man in their employ, no matter how important his position may be, as soon as he comes to regard himself as "indispensable."
This may seem harsh, and even unbusinesslike, but, if we look into it, we shall find that there is wisdom in this practice. Experience proves that, the moment a man looks upon himself as absolutely necessary, he usually ceases to exercise to the fullest extent the faculties which have helped him to rise to that indispensable point. He becomes arrogant and dictatorial and his influence in an organization is bound to be more or less demoralizing. Many concerns have been seriously embarrassed by the conduct of managers, superintendents or heads of departments, after they had reached positions where they thought no one else could take their places.
This undue appreciation of one's own importance is as disastrous in its results as utter lack of self-esteem. It is really evidence of a narrow mind, and ignorance of general conditions; for the man who is up to the times, thoroughly posted in regard to the world-wide trend of the twentieth century, will realize that there are very few people in the world, no matter what their talents or ability, who cannot be replaced. It is a very rare character, indeed, that is imperatively necessary, and the man who actually reaches this point does not brag of it, nor act as if he considered himself "indispensable."—Success.

Not so Crazy as He Seemed.
On one of the principal business corners of Omaha there stands a peanut roaster, which is run with a small steam engine. The boiler is heated with a gasoline burner.
The other day the people who were waiting on that particular corner for a car were horrified to see the attendant unscrew the cap leading to the machine's interior, and begin pouring in about a gallon of gasoline, without turning out the fire under the boiler.
"Oh, isn't he aching to be blown up?" "His wife will be collecting his life insurance about this time next week." These and similar exclamations greeted the man with the can, who, however, paid no attention.
Finally a policeman sauntered up for a handful of peanuts. He appreciated the situation at a glance, and in an instant had the idiotic man by the neck.
"You blasted idiot! You—you—oh!—in it, haven't you got more sense than that?" he demanded.
"Gwan!" retorted the other squirming loose. "I guess I know what I'm doing. There ain't no law against pouring water into a steam boiler, is there?"
And then the crowd, realizing how it had been sold, scattered in four directions. The policeman was so rattled that he went away without taking the peanuts he had crossed the street to obtain.—Omaha News.

JUST WHAT WAS IN HIM.
"Children," said the teacher, while instructing the class in composition, "you should not attempt any flights of fancy, but simply be yourselves, and write what is in you. Do not imitate any other person's writings, or draw inspiration from outside sources."
As a result of this advice Johnny Wise turned in the following composition:
"We should not attempt any flights of fancy, but write what is in us. In me there is my stomach, lungs, heart, liver, two apples, one piece of pie, one stick of lemon candy and my dinner."
—Baltimore American.

A fellow who wrote billet doux
To the wife of a man whom he knew
Didn't think for a minute
There was any harm in it.
But he got in a deuce of a stous.
—Philadelphia Record.

Labor Conditions are Changing in Japan

United States Consul General Bellows in a report on labor conditions in Japan says: The Japan Gazette of June 25 contained a translation of an article on "The Want of Skilled Labor in Japan," which had appeared in the Asahi, a Japanese newspaper. It says: "The Japanese believe that wages are low in Japan, though the rate of interest is high. It is true wages are low, but Japan wants skilled labor, and there is a great difference as compared with Europe and America as to the amount of production, and therefore wages are actually higher in Japan than in Europe and America, when the cost of labor is taken into consideration. Take the spinning industry, for instance. The average wages in South America are about 1 yen (50 cents) whereas they are about one-fourth that in Japan. Yet the individual amount of production is much more in the former than in the latter in Japan, some one thousand are employed in a spinning mill of 10,000 spindles, whereas in America about two hundred are sufficient in a factory of a similar capacity. . . . Despite the fact that the Government pays encouragement money, or a bonus, for every ship built in Japan, and that each ship built abroad involves the expense of bringing it home, most orders are given to foreign builders. This is because the cost is lower in the aggregate in foreign countries than in Japan."
The writer concludes that the lack of skilled labor is a serious hindrance to the introduction of foreign capital, so earnestly desired by Japanese financiers.
The Gazette of May 15 quotes the following from an article by Mr. K. Kawakami, a native writer:
"Children under 10 years, even of scarcely 6 or 5 years of age, are largely employed in factories, and men are generally made to work for injuriously excessive long hours, while women have to work for the same periods to which the men are subjected, and, like them, they have to work in the nighttime, too. It is no exaggeration to say that fourteen, sixteen and even eighteen hours a day are often worked in factories."

THE MAN WHO SAW IT.
It is an ancient mariner
Who stoppeth one of three,
"By thy spyglass and yachting cap,
Now wherefore stoppeth me?"
"Oh, gentle sir," the mariner
Remarked, with gentle face,
"But first the while I tell you of
The wonderful yacht race."
"They crossed the line in splendid shape."
"The wind was strong, indeed;
And then she piped the harbor
watch
And quickly took the lead."
"Which took the lead?" the stranger
cried,
"Which yacht ahead did run?"
"It was," the mariner declared,
"It was the other one."
"Go on! Go on!" the stranger said,
"And tell me of the race."
"I will," the mariner remarked,
"And then the last gave chase."
"They tacked and tacked, until you'd
think
The crew that oft did hang
Upon the rigging, was at best
A carpet-laying gang."
"And when the first yacht reached the
"take
The wastes tooted gay;"
"Which was the first?" the stranger
asked,
"The one that led the way."
"They came back on the other leg,"
The mariner went on,
"And one went by the very route
The other one had gone."
"What did they do?" the stranger said,
"What did they do, I beg?"
"As near as I can tell," quoth he,
"I think they pulled the leg."
"And then they neared the finish line;
The bettors cheered and cursed,
When proudly sweeping into view
The winner came in first!"
"But which was that?" the stranger
cried,
"Oh, which was that, I pray?"
"Alas!" the mariner replied,
"I was ten miles away."
It was an ancient mariner,
Who "Help!" did loudly cry.
It was the angry stranger man
Who smote him hip and thigh.
—Baltimore American.

The Indispensable Man.
Some of the most successful business men in this country make it a rule to dispense with the services of any man in their employ, no matter how important his position may be, as soon as he comes to regard himself as "indispensable."
This may seem harsh, and even unbusinesslike, but, if we look into it, we shall find that there is wisdom in this practice. Experience proves that, the moment a man looks upon himself as absolutely necessary, he usually ceases to exercise to the fullest extent the faculties which have helped him to rise to that indispensable point. He becomes arrogant and dictatorial and his influence in an organization is bound to be more or less demoralizing. Many concerns have been seriously embarrassed by the conduct of managers, superintendents or heads of departments, after they had reached positions where they thought no one else could take their places.
This undue appreciation of one's own importance is as disastrous in its results as utter lack of self-esteem. It is really evidence of a narrow mind, and ignorance of general conditions; for the man who is up to the times, thoroughly posted in regard to the world-wide trend of the twentieth century, will realize that there are very few people in the world, no matter what their talents or ability, who cannot be replaced. It is a very rare character, indeed, that is imperatively necessary, and the man who actually reaches this point does not brag of it, nor act as if he considered himself "indispensable."—Success.

Not so Crazy as He Seemed.
On one of the principal business corners of Omaha there stands a peanut roaster, which is run with a small steam engine. The boiler is heated with a gasoline burner.
The other day the people who were waiting on that particular corner for a car were horrified to see the attendant unscrew the cap leading to the machine's interior, and begin pouring in about a gallon of gasoline, without turning out the fire under the boiler.
"Oh, isn't he aching to be blown up?" "His wife will be collecting his life insurance about this time next week." These and similar exclamations greeted the man with the can, who, however, paid no attention.
Finally a policeman sauntered up for a handful of peanuts. He appreciated the situation at a glance, and in an instant had the idiotic man by the neck.
"You blasted idiot! You—you—oh!—in it, haven't you got more sense than that?" he demanded.
"Gwan!" retorted the other squirming loose. "I guess I know what I'm doing. There ain't no law against pouring water into a steam boiler, is there?"
And then the crowd, realizing how it had been sold, scattered in four directions. The policeman was so rattled that he went away without taking the peanuts he had crossed the street to obtain.—Omaha News.

JUST WHAT WAS IN HIM.
"Children," said the teacher, while instructing the class in composition, "you should not attempt any flights of fancy, but simply be yourselves, and write what is in you. Do not imitate any other person's writings, or draw inspiration from outside sources."
As a result of this advice Johnny Wise turned in the following composition:
"We should not attempt any flights of fancy, but write what is in us. In me there is my stomach, lungs, heart, liver, two apples, one piece of pie, one stick of lemon candy and my dinner."
—Baltimore American.

A fellow who wrote billet doux
To the wife of a man whom he knew
Didn't think for a minute
There was any harm in it.
But he got in a deuce of a stous.
—Philadelphia Record.

THE MAN WHO SAW IT.
It is an ancient mariner
Who stoppeth one of three,
"By thy spyglass and yachting cap,
Now wherefore stoppeth me?"
"Oh, gentle sir," the mariner
Remarked, with gentle face,
"But first the while I tell you of
The wonderful yacht race."
"They crossed the line in splendid shape."
"The wind was strong, indeed;
And then she piped the harbor
watch
And quickly took the lead."
"Which took the lead?" the stranger
cried,
"Which yacht ahead did run?"
"It was," the mariner declared,
"It was the other one."
"Go on! Go on!" the stranger said,
"And tell me of the race."
"I will," the mariner remarked,
"And then the last gave chase."
"They tacked and tacked, until you'd
think
The crew that oft did hang
Upon the rigging, was at best
A carpet-laying gang."
"And when the first yacht reached the
"take
The wastes tooted gay;"
"Which was the first?" the stranger
asked,
"The one that led the way."
"They came back on the other leg,"
The mariner went on,
"And one went by the very route
The other one had gone."
"What did they do?" the stranger said,
"What did they do, I beg?"
"As near as I can tell," quoth he,
"I think they pulled the leg."
"And then they neared the finish line;
The bettors cheered and cursed,
When proudly sweeping into view
The winner came in first!"
"But which was that?" the stranger
cried,
"Oh, which was that, I pray?"
"Alas!" the mariner replied,
"I was ten miles away."
It was an ancient mariner,
Who "Help!" did loudly cry.
It was the angry stranger man
Who smote him hip and thigh.
—Baltimore American.

The Indispensable Man.
Some of the most successful business men in this country make it a rule to dispense with the services of any man in their employ, no matter how important his position may be, as soon as he comes to regard himself as "indispensable."
This may seem harsh, and even unbusinesslike, but, if we look into it, we shall find that there is wisdom in this practice. Experience proves that, the moment a man looks upon himself as absolutely necessary, he usually ceases to exercise to the fullest extent the faculties which have helped him to rise to that indispensable point. He becomes arrogant and dictatorial and his influence in an organization is bound to be more or less demoralizing. Many concerns have been seriously embarrassed by the conduct of managers, superintendents or heads of departments, after they had reached positions where they thought no one else could take their places.
This undue appreciation of one's own importance is as disastrous in its results as utter lack of self-esteem. It is really evidence of a narrow mind, and ignorance of general conditions; for the man who is up to the times, thoroughly posted in regard to the world-wide trend of the twentieth century, will realize that there are very few people in the world, no matter what their talents or ability, who cannot be replaced. It is a very rare character, indeed, that is imperatively necessary, and the man who actually reaches this point does not brag of it, nor act as if he considered himself "indispensable."—Success.

Not so Crazy as He Seemed.
On one of the principal business corners of Omaha there stands a peanut roaster, which is run with a small steam engine. The boiler is heated with a gasoline burner.
The other day the people who were waiting on that particular corner for a car were horrified to see the attendant unscrew the cap leading to the machine's interior, and begin pouring in about a gallon of gasoline, without turning out the fire under the boiler.
"Oh, isn't he aching to be blown up?" "His wife will be collecting his life insurance about this time next week." These and similar exclamations greeted the man with the can, who, however, paid no attention.
Finally a policeman sauntered up for a handful of peanuts. He appreciated the situation at a glance, and in an instant had the idiotic man by the neck.
"You blasted idiot! You—you—oh!—in it, haven't you got more sense than that?" he demanded.
"Gwan!" retorted the other squirming loose. "I guess I know what I'm doing. There ain't no law against pouring water into a steam boiler, is there?"
And then the crowd, realizing how it had been sold, scattered in four directions. The policeman was so rattled that he went away without taking the peanuts he had crossed the street to obtain.—Omaha News.

JUST WHAT WAS IN HIM.
"Children," said the teacher, while instructing the class in composition, "you should not attempt any flights of fancy, but simply be yourselves, and write what is in you. Do not imitate any other person's writings, or draw inspiration from outside sources."
As a result of this advice Johnny Wise turned in the following composition:
"We should not attempt any flights of fancy, but write what is in us. In me there is my stomach, lungs, heart, liver, two apples, one piece of pie, one stick of lemon candy and my dinner."
—Baltimore American.

A fellow who wrote billet doux
To the wife of a man whom he knew
Didn't think for a minute
There was any harm in it.
But he got in a deuce of a stous.
—Philadelphia Record.

POLO SEASON OPENED
The polo games at Kapiolani park Saturday afternoon drew out a large crowd of the society people of the city. The play between the Incas and Hornets was the most brilliant of the day. The ground was not in very good condition. However, this did not seem to stop brilliant playing on the part of the contestants. The teams were as follows:
Incas—Blue body, pink sash, pink and blue cap.
Name. Handicap.
C. Rice, 2 4
W. Dillingham (captain), 3 4
R. Atkinson, 3 3
George Potter, 1 2
Total 14
Hornets—Yellow shirts.
Name. Handicap.
C. S. Dole, 2 4
A. F. Judd (captain), 3 4
A. W. Carter, 1 2
Judge Perry, 2 1
Total 11
Artillery—White body, red sash.
Name. Handicap.
C. H. W. Norton, 2 3
Lieut. Hancock (captain), 3 3
Dr. McAdory, 1 1
R. W. Shingle, 1 1
Total 8
Business Men—White body, green sash.
Name. Handicap.
G. Angus (captain), 3 3
C. W. Dickey, 2 2
Rev. J. P. Erdman, 2 2
J. T. Irvine, 1 1
Total 10
Four ten-minute periods were played in each game. The Hornets won from the Incas by a score of 8 to 7 and the Business Men from the Artillery, by a score of 6 to 4.

The Bulletin, 75 cents per month.

THE MAN WHO SAW IT.
It is an ancient mariner
Who stoppeth one of three,
"By thy spyglass and yachting cap,
Now wherefore stoppeth me?"
"Oh, gentle sir," the mariner
Remarked, with gentle face,
"But first the while I tell you of
The wonderful yacht race."
"They crossed the line in splendid shape."
"The wind was strong, indeed;
And then she piped the harbor
watch
And quickly took the lead."
"Which took the lead?" the stranger
cried,
"Which yacht ahead did run?"
"It was," the mariner declared,
"It was the other one."
"Go on! Go on!" the stranger said,
"And tell me of the race."
"I will," the mariner remarked,
"And then the last gave chase."
"They tacked and tacked, until you'd
think
The crew that oft did hang
Upon the rigging, was at best
A carpet-laying gang."
"And when the first yacht reached the
"take
The wastes tooted gay;"
"Which was the first?" the stranger
asked,
"The one that led the way."
"They came back on the other leg,"
The mariner went on,
"And one went by the very route
The other one had gone."
"What did they do?" the stranger said,
"What did they do, I beg?"
"As near as I can tell," quoth he,
"I think they pulled the leg."
"And then they neared the finish line;
The bettors cheered and cursed,
When proudly sweeping into view
The winner came in first!"
"But which was that?" the stranger
cried,
"Oh, which was that, I pray?"
"Alas!" the mariner replied,
"I was ten miles away."
It was an ancient mariner,
Who "Help!" did loudly cry.
It was the angry stranger man
Who smote him hip and thigh.
—Baltimore American.

The Indispensable Man.
Some of the most successful business men in this country make it a rule to dispense with the services of any man in their employ, no matter how important his position may be, as soon as he comes to regard himself as "indispensable."
This may seem harsh, and even unbusinesslike, but, if we look into it, we shall find that there is wisdom in this practice. Experience proves that, the moment a man looks upon himself as absolutely necessary, he usually ceases to exercise to the fullest extent the faculties which have helped him to rise to that indispensable point. He becomes arrogant and dictatorial and his influence in an organization is bound to be more or less demoralizing. Many concerns have been seriously embarrassed by the conduct of managers, superintendents or heads of departments, after they had reached positions where they thought no one else could take their places.
This undue appreciation of one's own importance is as disastrous in its results as utter lack of self-esteem. It is really evidence of a narrow mind, and ignorance of general conditions; for the man who is up to the times, thoroughly posted in regard to the world-wide trend of the twentieth century, will realize that there are very few people in the world, no matter what their talents or ability, who cannot be replaced. It is a very rare character, indeed, that is imperatively necessary, and the man who actually reaches this point does not brag of it, nor act as if he considered himself "indispensable."—Success.

Not so Crazy as He Seemed.
On one of the principal business corners of Omaha there stands a peanut roaster, which is run with a small steam engine. The boiler is heated with a gasoline burner.
The other day the people who were waiting on that particular corner for a car were horrified to see the attendant unscrew the cap leading to the machine's interior, and begin pouring in about a gallon of gasoline, without turning out the fire under the boiler.
"Oh, isn't he aching to be blown up?" "His wife will be collecting his life insurance about this time next week." These and similar exclamations greeted the man with the can, who, however, paid no attention.
Finally a policeman sauntered up for a handful of peanuts. He appreciated the situation at a glance, and in an instant had the idiotic man by the neck.
"You blasted idiot! You—you—oh!—in it, haven't you got more sense than that?" he demanded.
"Gwan!" retorted the other squirming loose. "I guess I know what I'm doing. There ain't no law against pouring water into a steam boiler, is there?"
And then the crowd, realizing how it had been sold, scattered in four directions. The policeman was so rattled that he went away without taking the peanuts he had crossed the street to obtain.—Omaha News.

JUST WHAT WAS IN HIM.
"Children," said the teacher, while instructing the class in composition, "you should not attempt any flights of fancy, but simply be yourselves, and write what is in you. Do not imitate any other person's writings, or draw inspiration from outside sources."
As a result of this advice Johnny Wise turned in the following composition:
"We should not attempt any flights of fancy, but write what is in us. In me there is my stomach, lungs, heart, liver, two apples, one piece of pie, one stick of lemon candy and my dinner."
—Baltimore American.

A fellow who wrote billet doux
To the wife of a man whom he knew
Didn't think for a minute
There was any harm in it.
But he got in a deuce of a stous.
—Philadelphia Record.

COKE
DANDRUFF CURE
UNIVERSALLY APPROVED
Public Quick to Appreciate the Honest Efforts of the
A. R. Bremer Co.
A Fair and Open Test on Their
Great Cure They Not Only Court
But Demand.
Two full days the papers of Honolulu gave public notice that the proprietors of Coke Dandruff Cure would, if their claims could be substantiated, revolutionize the treatment of dandruff and all hair and scalp troubles, and that the public might be given the benefit of this remedy without cost, they were invited to obtain a free sample bottle at the Hobron Drug Co.
In this open way everybody would be enabled to form their own judgment as to the value of Coke Dandruff Cure. The free test called for no restrictions. Physicians were not barred, in fact, they were welcomed, and as still further proof of this, while the free distribution ended at the Hobron Drug Co. on Saturday, A. R. Bremer Company's representative will even now be glad to furnish free, to all physicians who apply, a sufficient quantity of Coke Dandruff Cure to make such tests as in their judgment may seem necessary. Coke Dandruff Cure is guaranteed to cure dandruff, falling hair, and is the best tonic in the world today.
For sale at the Hobron Drug Co. All first-class barbers use it.

Bankers.
Claus Spreckels. Wm. G. Irwin
Claus Spreckels & Co.
BANKERS.
HONOLULU, : : T. H.

San Francisco Agents — The Nevada National Bank of San Francisco, San Francisco — The Nevada National Bank of San Francisco, London—The Union Bank of London, Ltd., New York—American Exchange National Bank, Chicago—Merchants' National Bank, Paris—Credit Lyonnais, Berlin—Dresdner Bank, Hongkong and Yokohama—Hongkong Shanghai Banking Corporation, New Zealand and Australia — Bank of New Zealand, Victoria and Vancouver — Bank of British North America.

Deposits received. Loans made on approved security. Commercial and Travelers' Credits issued. Bills of Exchange bought and sold.
Collections Promptly Accounted For.
— Established 1858 —

BISHOP & CO.
BANKERS.
Transact a General Banking and Exchange Business.
Commercial and Travelers' Letters of Credit issued, available in all the principal cities of the world.
Interest allowed after July 1, 1898, on fixed deposits 7 day notice 2 per cent. (this form will not bear interest unless it remains undisturbed for one month), 3 months 3 per cent., 6 months 3 1-2 per cent, 12 months 4 per cent.

Pioneer Building and Loan Association.
ASSETS, JUNE 30, 1901, $80,043.37.
Money loaned on approved security. A Saving Bank for monthly deposits. Houses built on the monthly installment plan.
Twenty-third Series of Stock is now opened.
OFFICERS—J. L. McLean, President; A. A. Wilder, Vice President; C. B. Gray, Treasurer; A. V. Gear, Secretary.
DIRECTORS — J. L. McLean, A. A. Wilder, A. V. Gear, C. B. Gray, J. D. Holt, A. W. Keech, J. A. Lyle, Jr., J. M. Little, E. S. Boyd.
A. V. GEAR, Secretary.
Office Hours: 12:30—1:30 p. m.

BISHOP & CO.
Savings Bank
Savings Deposits will be received and interest allowed by the Bank at four and one-half per cent per annum.
Printed copies of the Rules and Regulations may be obtained on application.
Office at bank building on Merchant street.
BISHOP & CO.

The Yokohama Specie Bank LIMITED.
Subscribed Capital . . . Yen 24,000,000
Paid Up Capital . . . Yen 18,000,000
Reserve Fund . . . Yen 5,510,000
HEAD OFFICE, YOKOHAMA.
The Bank buys and receives for collection Bills of Exchange, issues Drafts and Letters of Credit, and transacts a general banking business.
INTEREST ALLOWED.
On Fixed Deposits. Per cent.
For 12 months 4
For 6 months 3 1/2
For 3 months 3
Branch of the Yokohama Specie Bank, New Republic Bld., 111 King Street HONOLULU.

Subscribers to the BULLETIN not receiving their papers promptly will confer a favor by notifying the Business Office; Telephone 256.

Agents, Brokers and Jobbers.
ALEXANDER & BALDWIN, Ltd
OFFICERS:
H. P. BALDWIN President
J. B. CASTLE 1st Vice President
W. M. ALEXANDER 2nd Vice Pres
J. P. COOKE Treasurer
W. O. SMITH Secretary
GEO. R. CARTER Auditor

Sugar Factors and Commission Agents
AGENTS FOR —
Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Co.
Hauiku Sugar Company.
Pala Plantation Company.
Nahiku Sugar Company.
Kihikihi Plantation Company.
Hawaiian Sugar Company.
Kahului Railroad Company.
— AND —
The California and Oriental S. S. Co.

W. G. Irwin & Co.
Limited
AGENTS FOR —
Western Sugar Refinery Company of San Francisco.
Baldwin Locomotive Works of Philadelphia, Pa., U. S. A.
Newell Universal Mill Co. (National Cane Shredder), New York, U. S. A.
N. Ohlandt & Co.'s Chemical Fertilizers.
Alex. Cross & Sons' high-grade Fertilizers for Cane and Coffee.
Reed's Steam Pipe Covering.
ALSO OFFER FOR SALE:
Paraffine Paint Co.'s P. & B. Paints and Papers; Lucol and Linseed Oils, raw and boiled.
Indurine (a cold-water paint), in white and colors.
Filter Press Cloths, Cement, Lime and Bricks.

CASTLE & COOKE
LIMITED,
HONOLULU.

Commission Merchants SUGAR FACTORS.
— AGENTS FOR —
The Ewa Plantation Co.
The Waiialua Agricultural Co., Ltd.
The Kohala Sugar Co.
The Waialea Sugar Mill Co.
The Fulton Iron Works, St. Louis, Mo.
The Standard Oil Co.
The Geo. F. Blake Steam Pumps.
Weston's Centrifugals.
The New England Life Insurance Co. of Boston.
The Etna Fire Ins. Co. of Hartford, Conn.
The Alliance Assurance Co. of London.

CASTLE & COOKE
IMPORTERS
LIFE and FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS.
— AGENTS FOR —